Husband Accused in New Orleans of Having Two and Possibly Three Wives, All

NEW ORLEANS, La. Oct. 23.—The ternal triangle of which a Memphian toy Harman, was the stellar attrac-ion, has developed into a perfect quare.

ston, has developed into a periodic square.

The most mysterious prisoner is becoming more and more mysterious. In addition to the girl who claims to have married the man in Memphis, there are now two other women claiming to be the wives of Harman.

His wives to date are: Lillian Redding, Memphis stenographer, married to him by Justice W. A. Taylor on Sept. 4. She left New Orleans Friday for her itome an Jackson, Miss., with ner father, Mrs. Harel Newman, held at luction hospital, and Mrs. Helen Harman, of Chicago.

Redding, the preity Memphis girl, resided.

While the letters were not made public by the police, officers gave out a few excerpts. These present another individual in the case. He is Norman, the 14-year-old son of Harman in a reproving manner and from the letter it seems that they have been separated sine reproves him for his conduct, tells him that he is getting older now and that it is about time for him to settle down. At the same time she writes, Norman (the boy) is beginning to grow and is beginning to realize things as they are. The woman states that it is time for Harman to get a position and to adjust his weaknesses.

The letters were written to Roy Harman, care general delivery, New Orleans.

Tanks, Guns and Tractors Direct From France on River Front.

River Front.

A trainload of war dogs under the supervision of the ordinance department of the war department paid Memphis a surprise visit Sunday and Monday and despite the fact that their coming was mannounced interested throngs gathered at Adams avenue and Front street throughout the two days to look over the battle-geared guns, tractors, tanks and other equipment in the exhibit.

There are two purposes which actuated the war department in sending out this trainload of heavy ordinance on a lour of the country. The primary purpose is to secure recruits for the ordinance branch of the army, the second being to acquaint the public with the intricactes of heavy ordinance handling and furnish first-hand information as to the manner in which the army handles the big guns during wartime.

The exhibit which requires as entire train consists of regulation army tractor, several tanks ranging from the twoman whippets to the largest size, an eight-inch howitzer, long-range gun mounted on an auto tractor and sevipleces of smaller caliber.

A complete electric generating plant, milling machine plant, lathe and other machine shop equipment is also carried and demonstrations in repair and upicep of the ordinance equipment are given by members of the party which includes 26 men and two officers.

Practically all of the exhibit is camouflaged and came to this country direct from the lattisfields of France. Scars on the tanks, particularly, made by machine gun bullets bear mute testimony to the previous fighting record of these valiant war machines.

The train has toured the West and Memphis is next to the last stopping point. The exhibit will leave Memphis Monday night for Louisville, Ky., from which point it will be returned to Aberdeen, Md.

which point it was be received and credeen, Md.

A tent was set up on the grounds Monday morning and from this vantage point an effort is being made to secure recruits for the ordnance department.

QUITMAN CO. FARM

IS CAUSE OF SUIT The suit of W. B. Herbert against J. B. Cook, aged Arkansas planter, in which he seeks to force the defendant to convey to him a farm which he alleges he purchased from Cook in Quitman county. Mississippl, was begun Monday in the First chancery court. The farm in question is said to be a valuable tract of land. Herbert claims that Cook sold him the farm in June, 1917, but failed to deliver same. The farm was sold to another person before Herbert purchased it, it is claimed. The defense will set up the plea that Cook, who is 86 years old, is fot of sound untul and was mentally incapacitated to make a contract when he sold the farm to Herbert. Wilson & Armstrong are attorneys for Herbert, while Fitzhugh & Murrah are appearing for Cook.

Immense Crowds Throng City and Exhibits Are in Place. Fine Racing Program.

JACKSON, Miss. Oct. 20. (Spl.)—The lississippi state fair opened at the oon hour today for what premises to e the most successful event in the 16 Weather conditions were somewhat threatening during the early forenoon, but shortly before it o'clock the sun struggled through the clouds and an ideal day is promised.

Fully 15,000 people assembled on the grounds this afternoon to witness the opening attraction, Lieut. Omer Locklear changing planes in midair. Crowds on the streets are the largest since the memorable visit of Provident Tart to Jackson ten years ago. All incoming trains this morning were filled to overflowing, and thousands came to the capital in automobiles from nearby towns.

capital in automobiles from nearby towns.

A half holiday has been declared for the afternoon, all business houses, shops, factries, etc., closing at 1 o'clock. The public schools suspended at the same hour, and all school children under 12 years of age will be given free admittance.

The only convention featured on today's program is the state-wide rally of the Red Cross, which brought several hundred delegates. A round table discussion of the work was started at moon at the Edwards.

Hotels and boarding houses throughout the city are jammed to the limit of their capacity and overnight visitors who have not made reservations confront the possibility of not finding quarters.

The state fair gates opened at noon, and at that hour nearly every exhibit was in place, only a few finishing touches being necessary on the various buildings. The racing program started at 2 o'clock with a fine card for the pacing, trotting and running races. The track is in excellent shape.

miles and miles of it. It proved to be the longest and best parade ever seen here.

It was a cornucopia of gleam, glitter, and much music. Bands ripped forth their infectious melody. Beautifui equines caparisoned in crimson and spangles pranced by in great numbers. Long serpentine teams danced in and out ahead of correspondingly tiny coaches of siate. These formed a happy contract to the heavy-maned Percherons and Norman grays that, hitched in fours, eights and even twelves, drew massive tableau wagons bearing strange and gorgeous costumed folks from many lands. Richly dressed riders swung by—Cossacks from the Siberian steppes, cowboys and girls from the West, gaily turbaned Arabs and Bedouin chiefs. There were velled beauties from the Orient and petite beauties from the Orient and petite beauties from the Octient.

Closely shuttered dens, all gold and glitter, rumbled past, doubtless carrying the most precious and ferocious freight. But scores of the animal cages were open. And finally of all things swaited by the youngsters, something dark of color and ominous in outline began to bob up and down in the distance. Others appeared beside, and behind it. The very streets seemed to rock under the mighty tread. Then guided by white-hejmeted, red-coated keepers, the elephants swayed past. And in what number: If the Ringling Brothers Combined paraded nothing but that battallon of big-eared glamts they would have a procession almost as long as some of the smaller shows. And yet not all the big fellows were in parade. Some of the star performers were left at the circus grounds. A "quarter of a million pound" elephant act is one of the many big features that was greeted by the Immense audience that gathered at the show grounds this afternoon. Everything presented, from the manmoth introducbory pageant to the closing numbers of the program, is presented on a gigantic scale. Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Balley give a matinee and a farewell performance tonight.

COUNTY COURT BUYS
CODES FOR SQUIRES

The last meeting of the quarterly county court was shot and sweet, the squires meeting at 11 a.m. Monday and adjourning until the next meeting, the first Monday in January, at 11.36 a.m.
Little business was transacted, Alfred Atkinson of the Third district the appointed constable to succeed J. M. Glynn, resigned. Atkinson will not qualify until the January term of court, but will be made a deputy sheriff pending his qualification as constable.

A resolution was passed authorizing a committee to purchase a copy of Shannon's code, annotated, for each member of the county court and for other county officials who are entitled to them by law. The sum of $5 will be allowed for each of the old codes returned and deducted from the price of the rew ones. The new codes will cost $23 each, minus the $5 for the old ones.

The sum of $1.084 was transferred from the market house and auditorium bond issue fand to the general fund. This amount represents the expenses incurred in floating the issue.
